4121 Potrero Road, Newbury Park.

4.1 mi length 669 ft elevation gain

This hike begins from the Rancho Sierra Vista lower parking lot, where restrooms are available. The route features fantastic views of Sycamore Canyon. The path is a mix of paved and dirt trails and ends with a long uphill climb on a paved road. It definitely will get your heart rate up, but we'll take it slow. Along the trail you can enjoy the sights of wildflowers, birds, butterflies and lizards. Alltrails considers this a "moderate" hike. No beginners, please, unless you are active and fit.

Bring water and wear sunscreen and lug-soled hiking shoes.

Lunch afterwards somewhere.
